Alabama resident will be sentenced to prison today for killing girl in parking lot Receive the latest local updates in your inbox A mother will be sentenced to prison today for killing her 5-year-old daughter and putting her in the trunk of a car after a drug and alcohol-fueled night out with friends, according to court records. Dayna DeHaven is scheduled for a change of plea in Morgan County District Court this morning in the death of her daughter, Kaiden Mendel. Mendel's body was found in the trunk of a car in a parking lot at the fairgrounds in Morgan City, south of Birmingham. Police said DeHaven found the girl in a car her husband had been driving in the parking lot around 5 a.m. after they'd had an argument and that DeHaven and a friend had left her behind. DeHaven is being held at the Morgan County Detention Center awaiting a sentencing hearing that will be held Thursday in the same courthouse, according to court records. The girl's death was ruled a homicide on Jan. 5, and Morgan County District Attorney Larry Carpenter said Friday that DeHaven faces life in prison. "The evidence of guilt is overwhelming," Carpenter said in a news release. Prosecutors have said DeHaven and her friend left Morgan City in a Chevrolet Impala about 2:30 a.m. on Dec. 27, 2009, with the intention of drinking alcohol and taking drugs. They got into an argument in the parking lot of a nightclub in Leeds, about an hour and a half away. The friend told police that when DeHaven realized she couldn't drive, DeHaven put her daughter into the trunk of the car, according to a probable cause statement. DeHaven drove the car to her home, where she told her husband, Robert, about the argument in Leeds. He told police that he drove the car to the fairgrounds in Morgan City.
