What's New in the?

The Times They Are A Changin' There is a middle class to be added and you'll find it in book collecting. In business, you know we have too many jobs. For people, too many jobs is a bad thing. So in a larger sense, they are a changing. Let's take book collecting. It is your hobby. It is your job. It is your place to relax and sometimes it even provides you with financial stability. It is your pastime. It's also a social event. It's a community of people who share the same passion as you do. These people are known as 'book people'. People often prefer to buy books for their collection rather than to find a bargain on a used bookshop. You're in this hobby to make money. Yet you need a lot of books to keep your collection in tip top shape and to continue to grow. Up to this point you haven't seen that the acquisition of books is a very expensive hobby. And if you do it the old fashioned way, you'll have to pay up to $500 for a book. And this is before you get into the cost of the book itself. Can you afford it? What if you could find the book for your collection for $150 and then have it shipped to you in about five days? That's getting pretty close to where you need to be. I'm talking about 80/20. You find the book for $150 and then look after it. If you can get it to $80 per book in about five days, then you've got a profitable hobby. The 80/20 concept is probably as old as time itself. Why? Because it is efficient. In practice, any investment that is profitable at an 80/20 basis is going to be more than profitable overall. It will not last long though if you keep doing it that way. It's an 'as long as it lasts' type of theory. But if you can get your collection to $150 per book over five days, it will last longer than if you had spent $500 per book. Of course, this is only a small part of your investment but it's a start. What about your search engines? You're spending at least $500 a year on them but that is a lot of money and time. Would it be wiser to spend a little bit more and add a couple of books to your collection in the process? After all, you're only spending $15 a month for the Internet
