Zenteni is a new kind of puzzle game where you play as a tiny ball and have to choose between the Ball and the Shield. Using your shield, you can destroy the blocks of the board, to move the ball to the goal. One thing is different though: instead of the classic round board, you are the square block! It's challenging but not frustrating: if you lose you can try again with the same ball and shield and work on the blocks again. It's fun: the app contains a lot of levels and you can play every hour a new level with different blocks. Features:

- 2D flat board style levels
- 3D one way facing levels
- 3D 360° levels
- Different blocks.
- Each level consists out of 20-30 levels
- Exhilarating gameplay and atmosphere
- Bonuses.
- Leaderboards.
- Tutorial.
- Game Center achievements.
- Live Football matches.
- Pro-Am tournaments.
- Support for iPhone and iPad

On this day in history, all-time great surfing great Mike Tana waves an umbrella on the blacktop in front of the Foxwoods Resort Casino Waterfront. The Bay State native started surfing a little after 6 a.m. on the New England surf that was moving in from the Atlantic Ocean. A little over two hours later he was done. What made his victory historic wasn't any one thing, but rather how he was to get in that water and what happened after. The rain subsided around 11 a.m. and Tana arrived into John J. Dunn Field at Foxwoods Casino shortly after noon. Few knew that, only because there was a man with an umbrella blocking the view of the field between the Wooden Boat & Noah's Ark golf course and the white barriers that kept motor-sports out of view on the field. Tana waded through the downpour and reached to the far side of the barrier. He started picking up speed heading over to the beach where he stopped to untie his wetsuit. "Excuse me, excuse me," Tana said walking up to the umbrella. It didn't take Tana long to untie the umbrella. Whether it was from impatience because of the rain or because she'd been a long time trying to catch up with him is unknown. Mike Tana grabs an umbrella in the parking lot of John J. Dunn Field. — Photo: Abraham L. Wright What is known is that a security guard spotted what appeared to be an umbrella. She thought there was a roll-up door on the back of a van parked in the lot that looked like an airport security barrier. Danny Czareff, a concession
