You are taking the role of your company's Manager, and now it is your mission to build and develop a successful company. Your mission is to promote as best you can the business of your company. You get to choose your company. The more your company is developed, the higher your company's earning capability will be. This will increase the score you get from your clients, a thus also increase your cash on hand to use in improving your company. The objective of the game is to be the first on the scoreboard. The game ends after 5 rounds. You can perform one of the following actions in each round. -Building Your Business: You can spend your cash to buy a new building or to build an older one. -Acting On Your Business: You can spend your cash to buy a new market, to improve a building or to develop your company's skill. -Investing In New Business: You can invest your cash to buy a new market, to improve your building or to develop your company's skill. -Redeeming Expiring Products: You can purchase old products to produce new ones. -Ascending The Business Level: You can increase your company's level to raise your earning capacity. -Lowering The Business Level: You can decrease your company's level to lower your earning capacity. The game gets 3 rounds, in each round you can perform 1 action, but you can perform a maximum of 5 actions in the 3 rounds. In the first round, you have 40 cash, in the second round you have 90 cash, and in the third round you have 120 cash. Your company has a level, and if you perform an action your company's level will decrease. The level of your company determines your earning capacity, meaning how much cash you get per round, and how many actions you can perform per round. The maximum level of your company is 7 (max level is the value you set in the options menu). The time of each round is listed on the top of the screen. The game has some serious strategic actions, like investing your money in a company, selling a company, or lowering a company. Whenever you want to perform an action, you will need an action-point which you are earning by performing actions in the round. Depending on the action performed, an action-point will be transfered to your company's level, so your company will have an increased earning capacity in the next round.

[2017/06/10] Back in August, Sony announced an all-new character. We finally have a trailer and released details.What a chara!In "Aztech Forgotten Gods," you play as a young woman named Achtli who is bound by destiny to battle the Forgotten Gods.Achtli's journey in Aztech Forgotten Gods begins with the death of her father, whose work is conducted by the people in her city of Metzaukin, a town on the coast of the Ancient Mesoamerican city of Copan.The city thrived for thousands of years, but after Metzaukin was severely damaged in the 20th century, the people disappeared.In recent years, Achtli has been leading a team of engineers, with the mission to reclaim the city for the people and rebuild its grand monuments that have fallen into ruin.Achtli's work is overshadowed by the ominous tales of the Forgotten Gods, a race of colossal, half-human beasts that stand imposing over all the ancient ruins of the once-great city.These beasts are evidence of the ancient powers that brought civilization to this region. It is said they were created long ago and allowed to grow strong by feeding on the people's souls.The elders told Achtli stories about the Forgotten Gods, trying to prepare her for her fight against them.Despite the stories, Achtli is still in disbelief and hopes to find the truth behind these half-men.Meet Achtli. She is a city-savvy girl who can use the power of a technology called 'Mechis'. Achtli possesses its power and this helps her to fly and leap across the ruins of Metzaukin, uncovering secrets and aiding the search for the Forgotten Gods.Achtli's Mechis-driven abilities allow her to attack, dodge, jump and climb anywhere, whenever and however she pleases. Along the way, Achtli will gain access to powerful weapons, fight larger creatures, discover new abilities and collect treasures.Achtli can also switch her mode between stealth, aerial and ground combat. Achtli feels more like the protagonist of an RPG, and learns more new abilities as the story progresses.Do not underestimate the strength of the Forgotten Gods. Do not let their immense power go to waste.Hunt them down. Be careful of your power.Achtli's adventure begins as she embarks on her journey.As you play, you will gradually learn more about the city of

What's new in Frog's Princess:

Capcom's No More Heroes 2: Desperate Struggle is only $9.99. Save over $10 in used games! The Legendary Stainless Edition from the first game is $15.99. Spend your cash wisely, you'll thank yourself later! Robocar is the first thing I look forward to in the morning. And I've got to say, it's pretty much the only reason I leave my house at 7 every morning. And it's not the coffee. It's the news. As the clock hits 6, I crack open a cup and check three sites (including G4). I have a world of news to digest: Online games are king-of-the-hill; America's economy is melting down; and terrorists are even terrorists in THIS era. But I'm taking my first sip of coffee before my first click. Is this the best part of being an early riser? I think so. It's the beginning of my day. It's the time when I'll get my latest market research. It's the time when I'll read the most recent development in interactive entertainment and geek culture. It's reading to stay informed. Robocar is my morning tradition. It's a ritual that every morning that I have to myself becomes its own sort of sacred moment. I don't know why it happened. I guess my self-respect is in tune with it. It's a comic book. And seeing as most of my greatest creative efforts have come from my morning rituals; it seems like the natural progression. What's sad is that now I have to get up even earlier to read the news and watch TV shows. So, every day I spend my 7am… 9am… 11am… hour getting ready in the morning isn't as special as it once was. Priorities My son is 2.5. And the longer he stays up the longer my son is awake. I've been helping him with English and Math at his daycare every morning for nearly a year now. His teacher let him come on Monday and Wednesday without a problem- but lately it's been much more difficult. When we first got him he was Passion Capital Corporation, established in 2004, is a Japanese publisher and developer of simulation games. NoriSoft Co., Ltd., established in 2004, is a Japanese video game developer specializing in strategy and simulation games. Cross Generation Lineal (Never forget that the Cross Generation Lineal term is always used when it's a Christian game first released in Japan then released in America without any regard to the fact that Christ died for us all. That is, the term is meant to refer to the same contents as being released in the same country as the other only, that it's country of origin (Japan) is different than the original country of release (America).) Kingdom in Crisis is a zombie survival simulation game developed by Novethic and published by Passion Capital Corporation in collaboration with Norisoft Co., Ltd. In Kingdom in Crisis you must not only fight off the undead hordes, but also carefully build your
