The main dish was a HUGE hamburger that included 3 cheese steaks, lettuce, tomato, onions, fries, mayo and relish. I didn't even realize the onions are super abundant until the girl in the McDonald's booth stopped me and said that they were getting a fresh batch of onions because the McDonald's crew had bought them. Once you have the right ISO, you can import it into Magix Video Pro X and edit the video. I always prefer to handle the files in batches and then upload them. After you have the right ISO, you can import it into Magix Video Pro X and edit the video. I usually edit it for a couple hours, make a few minor adjustments to the video and then export it to Magix Video converter. There are also some freeware and cheap.
