It is uncertain whether plasminogen activator inhibitor-1 (PAI-1), tissue inhibitor of metalloproteinase-2 (TIMP-2) and interleukin-6 (IL-6) are prognostic factors in cervical cancer. To examine this, we studied their association with patients' survival and clinicopathological data in cervical cancer. Sixty-three patients with histologically proven cervical cancer (stages IB-IV) were studied for PAI-1, TIMP-2 and IL-6 using a commercially available enzyme-linked immunosorbent assay kit. The correlation between their serum levels and the clinicopathological findings was examined. The median follow-up time was 32 months and the 5-year survival rate was 56%. PAI-1 levels were significantly higher in patients with cervical cancer than in controls (36.8 +/- 7.9 ng/mL versus 7.5 +/- 4.6 ng/mL, respectively, P or = 27.0 ng/mL) was significantly lower than that for patients with a low serum PAI-1 level (or = 0.93 mg/mL) than in those with a low serum TIMP-2 level (

American Modernist painter Charles Demuth, also known as Charles Demuth (born August 28, 1883—October 17, 1935), one of the best-known American painters of the early 20th century, was enormously productive, using photographic and etching techniques to explore the effects of new technologies. In his haunting lithographs, he carved bright, simple shapes from gouged wooden blocks, often with vivid, flat monochromatic colors. He was influenced by architectural forms and uses a photographic camera and mechanical engraving techniques to create images that are a study of the planar surfaces of a geometric style. Demuth's paintings and drawings are also thoroughly original and challenging, showing a mastery of line, shape, color, and form. Bibliography Richards, Vernon: Charles Demuth : a life.
