Since the birth of World War One, Marcel Proust has made a name for himself as one of the most prolific and successful writers in history. His magnum opus, Remembrance of Things Past, is the most popular and critically acclaimed novel in the French language. A work of such length and size, the novel becomes a rich and allusive compilation of the man's thoughts, experiences, and relationships. Now, in this game adaptation of the immensely popular novel, we provide you with an entirely unique experience. The premise is as simple as it is intriguing: to be a girl, forever! What could possibly go wrong? Story In the Autumn of 1896, the famous French author Marcel Proust, his wife Maman, and their son George are forced to leave Paris when an unfortunate scandal involving the sadistic captain of Marcel's high school leads the media and public to believe that his father, Mr. Georges de Saint-Reamy, is a violent sexual predator. Following the scandal, Mr. Proust, Maman, and young George are forced to seek a peaceful future in distant France, where they stay with Maman's older sister. During their stay, the Prousts are forced to live in the cottage that had belonged to a long-dead governess and infirm aunt, with whom Mr. Proust had been very close. Upon moving to their new aunt's, the Prousts are delighted when the aunt decides to employ a young female tutor for young George. The aunt and her kin are concerned that with young George around, the young female tutor will be able to have an influence on the young boy and be able to overindulge him with gifts of sweets and other gewgaws. The aunt goes so far as to offer to pay the young tutor a half-year salary in exchange for not teaching any French lessons to young George. Unfortunately, the aunt's good intentions do not quite work out as planned. Little did the aunt know that the young tutor is actually Maman herself! The young tutor, or rather Maman, had been maid of all work to Aunt Albertine's cousin, a real piece of work named Albertine de Saint-Reamy. Maman's presence was unwanted by Albertine de Saint-Reamy, as she was a married woman. Naturally, the debutante turned maid of all work seeks to shoo the unwanted presence
