Apple, iPhone, iPod touch, iPad, Mac, and iPod classic music Here are a few tips that I have learned. If you have Windows 8.1 or Windows 10, you might need to do some tinkering to get things to work as they should. Which is why I make new iTunes install media as a virtual machine. You can download the VirtualBox installer from just make sure you have an older version of Linux to match your VirtualBox version. Open iTunes, and you will see the Download button for music. Click on Install Now to download the latest iTunes. Do not continue if you already have iTunes installed. You will have the same iTunes that you would have on a computer running Windows. Open iTunes and it should automatically connect to the music you just downloaded. Your music will now be on your iPhone.Q: How to update AssemblyVersion from TFS Build when Visual Studio Project is in TFS Git I have a Visual Studio Solution containing C# and C++ projects. All the source files are located on Git, where they are pushed to the TFS repository. I want to get all the projects' AssemblyVersion files automatically updated from the Git. In my SharedAssemblyVersion.cs file I have the following code: [assembly: AssemblyVersion("4.7.0.0")] I have tried to write this in the TFS Build with something like this: "$(env.APPVEYOR_BUILD_SOURCEVERSION)/$(env.APPVEYOR_BUILD_BUILDNUMBER)/$(env.APPVEYOR_BUILD_BUILDNUMBER)\Shared\AssemblyVersion.cs" But it doesn't update the AssemblyVersion as expected. If I write $(sourcesDirectory)\Shared\AssemblyVersion.cs 6d1f23a050
